DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Malmin (702) in view of Harrison III. Malmin shows a gutta percha point, Fig. 9, however, does not show a scale. Malmin also shows a gutta percha delivery tool 240, Fig. 11, having a scale. Malmin does not show combining these two embodiments. Harrison teaches an absorbent point that solves the problem of determining the depth that the point is inserted into a root canal by placing a scale directly on the point. It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify Malmin to include combining the scale taught by Malmin in Fig. 11 with the gutta percha point taught by Malmin in Fig. 9 as shown by Harrison in order to allow the user to determine the depth without using an additional tool. As to claim 3, see column 4, line 20 of Harrison. As to claim 6, see column 4, lines 26 and 42 of Harrison.

Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Malmin (702) in view of Harrison III as applied to claim 1 above, and further in view of Johnson. The above combination does not show embossed marks. Johnson teaches embossed marks 20. It would be further obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the above combination to include embossed marks as shown by Johnson in order to make use of well known ways in the art to make marks that can be seen clearly.

Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Malmin (702) in view of Harrison III and Johnson as applied to claim 2 above, and further in view of Cohen. The above combination does not show using color marks. Cohen teaches using color. It would be further obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the above combination to include color marks as shown by Cohen in order to make use of well known ways in the art to make marks that can be seen clearly.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Malmin (702) in view of Harrison III as applied to claim 3 above, and further in view of Cohen. The above combination does not show using color marks. Cohen teaches using color. It would be further obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the above combination to include color marks as shown by Cohen in order to make use of well known ways in the art to make marks that can be seen clearly.

Drawings

The drawings filed April 19, 1999 have been approved.

Priority

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Malmin (791) shows details of the scale referred to in Malmin (702). Siegel shows a cone.
